

Vivisection

BY FREDERIC J. HASKINS
Director
Janesville Daily Gazette Information Bureau, Washington, D. C.

Washington, June 30.—Senator Myers of Montana introduced a bill in Congress today which would make it a crime to vivisect a dog. This has the support of the medical profession and the anti-vivisectionists have been carried into the United States, where there is now a chance that it will be given the governmental stamp of approval or disapproval.

The bill is not only by the National Society for Humane Regulation of Vivisection, but by hundreds of dog-lovers throughout the country, who maintain that, while other animals may be necessary to the progress of medical science, the dog deserves exemption.

This point is not yielded by the opposition, however, as some of the best surgeons in the country, who are in the experimental stage of vivisection, are not to be handicapped.

We don't use dogs in the army," exclaimed one authority in the other day, "but a dog can tell you as an individual surgeon that the vivisection of dogs results in the saving of thousands of human lives every year."

Made National Issue.

Whatever may be the ultimate verdict as to the dog martyrs, both sides will be given every opportunity to present their claims. For the time being, vivisection has been brought into the open and made a national issue.

The Myers bill provides as a penalty a fine of from one to five hundred dollars, or imprisonment for from three months to a year, or both, for anyone convicted of vivisectioning a dog. The promoters of this legislation claim that the dog deserves such penalties as a result of its treatment in the laboratory. This is their chief argument, and one which finds ready acceptance among our returning soldiers who are in a particularly sentimental frame of mind.

There has been a strong attempt to raise a hundred thousand dollars for a monument in Washington to the dog, the horse and the man in the war. Those who favor dog vivisection regard this as robbing that friend of man of its greatest opportunity of usefulness.

A returning soldier, who had in the past been observed in action during the war, is an enthusiastic supporter of both the Myers bill and the monument project. He does not wish to be quoted as an authority, but he holds the belief that as an animal, the dog compares not unfavorably with man. There were 4,000 trained dogs in the army, and some of them were left behind, some of which had furnished heroic inspiration to soldiers.

Praises Dog in War.

"The dog as a fighting animal is something new," he says, "but it has covered the idea that the training of an animal is a trick, but during the war the dog was called upon to use his intelligence and drilled just as a man. The dog was taught to give warning at the approach of the enemy, was taught to carry messages, to act as a scout, to depend on the safety of the army; and through it all endured shell shock, insomnia, palsy, gasped lungs, blindness, deafness and other injuries as did man."

He told a story of a dog which gave its life to save a unit of American soldiers. The incident happened just before the signing of the armistice. The dog was found among the American soldiers which had been cut off from the rest of its division. With a wooden crate strapped to its back, it climbed out of its trench and ran toward the enemy, who immediately opened fire upon it. It never wavered in its course, however, until it had reached its goal, wounded, but its work had been accomplished. From the crate on its back, the American soldiers drew forth two pigeons, tied a message to their legs and sent them to the rear. The dog stated the location of the unit, and in a comparatively short time reinforcements arrived to rescue it.

Says Vivisection Unnecessary.

Another argument promulgated by supporters of the Myers bill is that the vivisection of dogs is entirely unnecessary. According to Albert Fayson Terhune, a writer, the police of the city of New York, who have been on record as denying that any genuine good has been achieved for science or for humanity by the vivisection of dogs.

"The fact that a dog can survive for a certain number of hours with its spinal column extracted or its medulla oblongata removed," says Mr. Terhune, "has no bearing whatever on the value of the human race, but is merely a matter of morbid interest to experimenters. Such needless bits of vivisection as have benefited the race have been performed on cats, guinea pigs, rabbits and guinea pigs."

Melton of the United States Geological Survey, who made a survey in this section of the state. JANESVILLE GOES DRY AT MIDNIGHT

MORRISSEY IS CHOSEN AS ACTING CHIEF

VETERAN MEMBER OF POLICE DEPARTMENT WILL ACT TEMPORARILY.

SHORTER HOURS ARE AGREED ON

Mayor Welsh Asks For Dismissal of Gower As Head of the Force. Six Apply For Jobs.

Thomas J. Morrissey, for the past 18 years a member of the Janesville police department, was the unanimous choice of the members of the fire and police commission at their meeting Saturday night for the position of acting chief of police. Mr. Morrissey was chosen over Mr. T. E. Welsh, who had been acting as chief of police since the resignation of William E. Gower.

Mayor Welsh appeared before the commission and asked for the dismissal of Gower as head of the force. Mayor Welsh insisted that Mr. Gower was doing all he possibly could to discredit the present administration and maintain that if the desired results were to be obtained that a new police chief would have to be chosen.

"Chief Gower has been hostile to me for several weeks and I am not going to stand for his actions," Mayor Welsh said. "I have always tried to cooperate with Mr. Gower in every way and I know of no reason why he should be hostile to me."

Chief Morrissey, the veteran member of the department, appeared before the commission and said he was willing to take the position as acting chief if he would hold the position permanently as I do not care to lose my rights on the department," Mr. Morrissey said. He was assured by the commission that he would be asked to resign the work of the force only to give a permanent chief could be engaged.

Outside Man Needed.

It was the consensus of opinion among the members of the commission that a local man could not be given the position of chief and obtain the results that a stranger would. John J. Kelly, the acting chief, was the commission, and he was ready to back any man for the position that could make good but he thought that a stranger would get better results.

Mr. Gower was appointed by Mr. Morrissey immediately resigned as a member of the police department. He refused to remain as desk sergeant, the position he held before being chosen as acting head of the force.

Mr. Morrissey took immediate charge of the department and assured the commission that he would do all he possibly could to reorganize the department while acting as its head.

"I will get you the kind of policemen you desire and I will do my level best to improve the department," Mr. Morrissey said.

Hostile To Mayor.

Mayor Gower asserted that on several different occasions he had been openly ignored by Chief Gower. He said he appointed two men to the position of desk sergeant, whom he did not know, and Mr. Gower refused to tell him the facts.

William P. Mason, who applied for the position of chief, was informed by the commission that an outside man was to be engaged. Mr. Mason was asked if he would accept a position as plain clothes man at a salary of $125 a month. He would be wasting his time in the city to engage a detective until an experienced man had been engaged as head of the department.

"I could not accept the position and work under an incompetent chief," Mr. Mason said.

Harry O. Nowlan, president of the commission, addressed the meeting and the need of immediate action to engage a new chief of police.

Discipline Lacking.

Lack of discipline among the men now on the department was discussed by the commission. Mr. Nowlan said it was a common thing to find the patrolmen off the beats in direct violation of the laws of the department.

Shorter hours for the men were taken up by the commission and it was the opinion of all that the patrolmen should not work more than 10 hours a day. Mayor Welsh informed the members that he was going to ask the aldermen for a meeting tonight to install a police call system. He added that additional men would be engaged to allow a 10-hour working day.

Six men, William Lenz, Frank Lein, Cornelius O'Day, Patrick Slez, Louis Dutcher, and Alva Burdick applied for positions on the department.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Berlin, Sunday, June 2.—Under an agreement with the railroad strikers, the government proposes a reduction in the price of foreign, especially food, totaling 1,500,000 marks, to be distributed and charged to the empire in free trade and community stores.

Half a pound of American flour now costs two marks, 20 to 50 pfennig, and in future will cost from 30 to 85 pfennig. A quarter of a pound of American bacon, a quarter pound of which now costs from 7 to 8 marks, will be reduced nearly half.

War Brides' Tears Win Way on Wilson Ship

On board the U. S. S. George Washington, Sunday, June 2.—Several thousand returning American soldiers and a score of pretty French war brides are on board the presidential ship. A number of the soldiers who were members of the guards at the Paris White House and the Hotel de Crillon, headquarters of the American delegation, were married during their sojourn in Paris.

The regulations provided no means for the brides to accompany their husbands aboard the George Washington and for a while it seemed that they might be left behind. A tearful joint disbandment of the brides to President Wilson, however, led to the making of arrangements for their accommodation.

YANK TRAMPLES FRENCH FLAG; STARTS RIOTS IN BREST

Brest, June 30.—Two French civilians were killed and five American soldiers and sailors were injured severely, and more than 100 wounded in riots here last night. Two of the American soldiers are expected to die. The casualties resulted from an exchange of shots between American military and naval police and French sailors.

A trouble began, according to available accounts, when an American naval officer who is said to have been drinking, tore down a French flag and trampled on it. Frenchmen who were kicked and beat the officer until he was unconscious.

American sailors went to the aid of the naval officers and the fight became general.

A mob of French civilians and soldiers and sailors attempted to rush the Hotel Modern where American officers were quartered. They burned the hotel and threw stones at Americans in uniform.

A company of marines with fixed bayonets was hurried to the scene and the Americans soon restored order. The marines marched back to their quarters. It is declared, they were pursued by a mob throwing stones and bricks.

ARMY RULES STILL IN FORCE IN COBLENZ

Coblenz, Sunday, June 29.—The rules and regulations issued by the authorities of the army of occupation soon after entering Germany last December will continue in effect indefinitely, according to an announcement issued by the military command here. Lieut. Gen. Hunter Liggett sent word today to the over-president of the Rhine province, instructing him to notify burgomasters and other officials of the various cities in the American zone to caution civilians that none of the army regulations has as yet been cancelled.

This action was taken as a precaution against civilians appearing to take it for granted that the army regulations had been automatically annulled by the signing of the peace treaty. The regulations will stand until further orders are issued either by General American headquarters or the inter-allied Rhine commission.

On Board the U. S. S. George Washington, Sunday, June 29.—Farewell messages were received by President Wilson from King George of England, King Alfonso of Spain, and the emperor of Japan. The one from King George makes allusion to "the American and British people, brothers in arms, who will continue ever in peace."

The reply of the president to the message of King George was as follows: "It gives me deep pleasure to express to you my appreciation of the trust of your generous message concerning the great ends which have been attained by the present peace and the new ties which have been created between your own great people and ours."

"We are on the eve of realizing, more than we could realize them at the time, the real objects of the great war."

"The free peoples of the world, united to defeat the enemies of liberty and justice have through their representatives wrought out a plan which will not only secure a free partnership of intimate council to promote the cause of justice and of freedom through the beneficent processes of peace and the words of liberal policy. It is within the choice of thoughtful men of every nation to enrich the peace by their counsel. I am happy to echo your greetings at this momentous time of renewed vision and content hope."

Japan Sends Congratulations.

Emperor Yoshihito of Japan in congratulating the president said: "I give you my warmest wishes to congratulate you and the great friendly people whose first magistrate you are, on the definite termination of the war in which you and they did so much to achieve final victory. Accept my warmest felicitations on this magnificent triumph which I firmly believe is the forerunner of a great new era of the world's history in the general diffusion of happiness and security."

The president replied: "Your majesty's message of felicitations is received with the greatest pleasure. It has been a privilege to co-operate with the very able representatives of Japan in developing the terms of peace which inevitably involved the interests of the whole world. I believe with your majesty that the results achieved forecast a new era in the world's history because they give promise of a peace in which justice will be possible to give each nation its place on the part of a single nation."

"May I express my best wishes for the security and happiness of your people."

Hears From King Alfonso.

King Alfonso of Spain sent this message: "On the occasion of the signing of the peace in which you have in conjunction with the army of occupation rendered a great service, I am pleased to send you my most sincere congratulations and I ask you to accept my very best wishes and those of Spain for the happiness and prosperity of the United States. I wish you, Mrs. Wilson and Miss Wilson a good journey."

In reply the president said: "I greatly appreciate your message. I rejoice with you over the signing of the peace and look forward with equal confidence to a new day in which it will be possible to give each nation its place on the part of a single nation."

"The peace which we have achieved is the result of the cooperation of the nations through common council of amity and cooperation, and I am sure that I am expressing the feelings of the people of the United States in wishing for the fruits of the better day."

Big Bertha Repents Evil Life; to Aid Scientists

(BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS.)
Paris.—"Big Bertha" has repented her evil life and is about to become of great use to scientists.

Her enormous destructive power is to be employed in studying high atmosphere by means of a special projectile.

Elevated at an angle of 41 degrees from the horizon, "Big Bertha" was sent into the air 11 miles into the air. If pointed vertically she can send it 10 miles high, or 10 times as high as the highest mountain in the world.

A prominent scientist, discussing the great opportunity offered to the scientific world, said they hoped to gain some knowledge of what ether is like at this great distance from the earth and whether density exists there, or will the projectile continue its way toward the stars.

Recovers Wedding Ring Lost Many Years Ago

House dropped the ring into his pocket and later lost it while working in a field. He was springing a trap when he was harrowing in the same field and found the ring, which was apparently none the worse for wear except for the loss of some of the smaller ruby settings.

THE END IS NEAR

Janesville and Other Cities Watch Approaching Dry Hour; Local Saloonists Will Close Promptly; Many Farewells Said Saturday; Revels Expected Tonight.

Janesville took President Wilson's statement that he would not lift the war time liquor ban calmly Saturday night.

There were greater crowds than usual at the bars, but there was no excitement, no debauch. Prohibition, though the principal topic of conversation, brought no orgy. All the saloons closed promptly at 11 o'clock.

"Why," saloonkeepers asked "should we make trouble and get in bad with the authorities and citizens just for a few extra dollars? Those who disobey the law may have more trouble than they can stand when the country goes dry."

Beloit was well represented in Janesville and as each interurban car came to a stop at the corner of Main and Milwaukee streets dozens of thirty Beloits would unload and in nearly every instance the person carried a suitcase or grip of some kind. Janesville liquor dealers sold more goods Saturday night than ever before in the history of saloons in Janesville. Other dry towns, including Edgerton, Rockford, Tipton, and Madison, were well represented and all the representatives came prepared to carry home some wet goods.

Today is the saloonkeeper's chance to get rid of his stock. The saloons will close promptly at 11 o'clock tonight and will undoubtedly remain closed unless President Wilson, lifts the war time dry bill. The majority of the liquor dealers are of the opinion that the ban will be lifted in a few weeks.

President Wilson in his statement issued Saturday said that he could not legally lift the ban until the demobilization had been completed. Army officers assert that the army will not be demobilized before September.

A record breaking crowd of thirty persons is expected to be on hand tonight to bid farewell to old John Barlow. It is the first time in the history of Janesville since the first saloon opened its doors that the city will be saloonless.

Local liquor dealers are not downhearted by the failure of President Wilson to lift the ban. They assert that they acted wisely and they are heartily in sympathy with the city fathers in their fight for a busy day today but they are also prepared to prevent to the best of their ability any orgy.

What action will be taken by the city fathers in regard to granting licenses is not known. It is thought that the licenses will be granted on the condition that the saloons can operate when the ban is lifted.

If the council fails to act in this matter tonight it will be impossible owing to the Baker law to grant all the applicants permits when the ban is lifted.

PEOPLE SHOULD VOTE ON SOLDIER FUND BILL SAYS PHILIPP

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Madison, June 30.—Gov. E. L. Philipp sent a special message to the legislature advising that the soldier fund bill, which would pay $5,000,000 to soldiers bonuses, of which $5,000,000 is to be raised by an income tax to be referred to a vote of the people at a special election to be held August 19.

"If the people pass favorably on the matter a special session of the legislature will be held in October."

Assemblyman T. S. Nolan has introduced a bill embodying the ideas of the executive and action has been deferred until Tuesday.

Motion for reconsideration have also been entered on two other soldier fund bills. These have been laid over until Tuesday.

Assemblyman C. C. Coe entered a motion for reconsideration on the vote by which the house concurred in the soldier fund bill. The bill was passed by a vote of 25 yeas and 10 nays.

Action on this measure has also been deferred until Tuesday.

STATE WINS VICTORY IN MILK PRICE SUIT

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Madison, June 30.—The attorney general's office won a victory for the state in a suit brought in Marathon county to test the validity of the law prohibiting price discrimination in the buying of milk and cream. Several years ago at the demand of the state an anti-discrimination law was enacted and corporations would pay a higher price in one community than in another. It was charged that it would pay high prices in a community where there was competition in order to drive out another where there was no competition. To meet the situation the law was enacted.

Sometime ago an action was started against the state dairy and food commission by the Rhineland Creamery & Products company charging a violation of the law. The complaint stated that there was a discrimination in the prices paid at Ellettsville, Galloway, Starvation, and other places. At the trial of the case last week Moon was convicted on the four counts charged by the state.

For each violation the law carries a minimum penalty of $500 and a maximum of $1,000. It is understood here that the case is to be carried to the supreme court to test out the validity of the law. Investigations have been made by the state dairy and food commission in a number of other sections of the state and if the attorney general's office wins in the higher court it is said that a number of other prosecutions for violation of the law will be started.

U. S. TO KEEP ON TRAIL OF VIOLATORS

WAR-TIME PROHIBITION TO BE STRICTLY ENFORCED BY FEDERAL AGENTS.

SECRET TRAFFIC TO BE DEALT WITH

Beer Containing 2 1/4 Percent Alcohol Is Considered As Intoxicating.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Washington, June 30.—The department of justice is understood to have decided that sale of light wines and beer shall not be interfered with under the war time prohibition law.

Instructions went forward today to district attorneys in wet territory that the department would abide by the recent decision in the test case brought in New York and would not prosecute dealers selling beverages containing not more than 2 1/4 percent of alcohol.

Attorney-General Palmer will issue a statement today on the department's attitude on the enforcement of the law which becomes effective at midnight.

Washington, June 30.—War-time prohibition, effective at midnight, will be strictly enforced by the department of justice insofar as existing machinery can function to that end.

It was said at the department today that open violation of the law, threatened in New York and other cities, would be promptly dealt with by federal agents. Whether the department's present force will be able to back up such action remains to be seen, but in this connection officials pointed out that the increased appropriation asked of congress for general law enforcement would permit of a more complete enforcement of the department's force.

2 1/4 Beer Is Intoxicating.

Beer containing 2 1/4 percent of alcohol is regarded by justice officials as intoxicating, and persons who would violate the law are prosecuted. Suit brought in Baltimore to have the courts determine whether such beer is intoxicating within the meaning of the law is to come to trial tomorrow, but it is expected to be before final judgment is entered congress will have specifically fixed the enforcement law, the amount of alcohol which beverages may contain.

Reed Amendment Valid.

In the opinion of department of justice officials and many members of congress, war-time prohibition will have no effect on the Reed amendment prohibiting the transportation of intoxicants into territory where Europe covers the sale is forbidden by local law. Information has reached the department that many persons living in "dry" territory have stored quantities of beer and other beverages with a view to transporting it after today, but enforcement of the Reed amendment will in no wise be relaxed.

LEAGUE NECESSARY TO CIVILIZATION, SAYS SENATOR GERRY

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Washington, June 30.—Describing the league of nations as a workable plan "to marshal the civilized nations against such acts of aggression as Germany and Austria perpetrated in this war," Senator Gerry, democrat of Rhode Island, told the senate today that acceptance of the league covenant was an absolute necessity to protect American rights and preserve civilization during the reconstruction period.

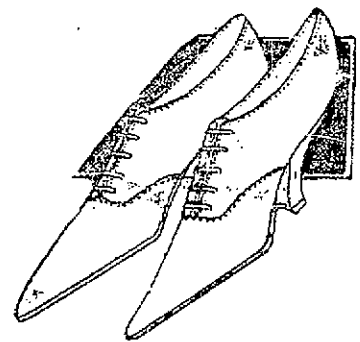

Basing his argument on observations during a visit to England, France and Belgium, he said the people of Europe were planning for a better era upon a faith that the United States would take the lead in a league to prevent war. He analyzed the league covenant and declared it contained nothing subverting American sovereignty nor destroying American policies.

"The real question," said Mr. Gerry, "is whether we believe that it is better for the United States to have a say in European matters and thus try to prevent another horrible war or to keep our hands off and wait until the world is again in a state of anarchy. I assert our right to protect our rights. In one case we have a hand in shaping the destinies of mankind. In the other we suffer the consequences of an uncontrollable situation in Europe."

Keeps Check Burned in Airplane As a Souvenir

In sending it back the Chicago company said it had kept the envelope and enclosed bill as a souvenir, as it was undoubtedly "an epoch-making incident."

British Use Planes to

Quiet India and Egypt

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
London.—England's powerful aerial arm is aiding in the rule of India and Egypt. There inciters of rebellion have been speedily overawed by a liberal dose of aerial bombs. By the use of aircraft, Great Britain will be better able to maintain her sway over vast and primitive states, which have been increased in extent by the peace treaty.

In sense, aircraft is second only to the British navy in speedily bringing to bear in any land, whether it be colonial possessions or a new enemy, the belief that England is in earnest and "means business."

This was proved by the recent revolts in India and Egypt and in the incited attack by the Afghanistans upon British forces in northern India.
When the air force bids to be an cers or officers of the army, both which have a long tradition behind them.

Chicago Grain Review.
Chicago, June 30.—Decided upturns in the price of corn resulted today from scarcity of offerings. Attention centered largely on the fact that stocks in store were meager and the movement of new wheat threatened to retard the handling of other grain. Besides the outlook for the new corn crop was reported as only fair.

FIVE YEARS AGO.

Five years ago Saturday the shot was fired which dates the real opening of the world war. The Archduke Francis Ferdinand was a person of speculation in those days.

What the situation was is told as follows in an editorial in the New York Times:

"On June 28, 1914, when the world was interested in such matters as the prospect of revolt in Ireland, the attitude of clergymen to the new dances, the international polo matches and tennis tournament, and the approach of the trial of Mme. Caillaux for murder, an imperial highness and his morganatic wife made a visit to the capital of an outlying province in the empire to whose throne he would soon succeed. Concerning this gentleman there had been more speculation than about any other royalty in Europe.
The rest were more or less known in their propensities and possibilities; Francis Ferdinand was something of a mystery. And he would inherit an empire which could not long go on as it had gone on for a century or more in the past, when old emperors Joseph died, said the wise men, something would happen. What that something would be must depend largely on the new emperor; so for years a good part of the political forecasts of Europe revolved around Francis Ferdinand. He would break away from Prussia, he would form a closer alliance with Russia; he would be a man of war, he would be a man of peace; he would liberalize the administration, he would strengthen the powers of the crown; he would ally himself closely with the Vatican, and so on.

"The diary of Count Czernin, one of the bright young men of the Archduke's circle, shows us how constantly ambitious Austrians were trying to influence him to support their ideas of what must be done in a country where it was evident that something had to be done very quickly. But what he would have done nobody knew. His friendship for the Slavs, which gave strength to the widespread belief that he would convert the Dual Monarchy into a triple monarchy, with the Jugo-slavs at least as an independent member of the triad, had been the subject of his big ambition to the Magyar aristocracy, which was unwilling to give up its hold on the Slavs; but on the other hand there was a chance that his morganatic wife, descended from the Austrian throne, might still become Queen of Hungary; and it was far from impossible that a man so devoted to his family and determined to carry them up with him would trade in his ideas of Slavic liberation in return for the elevation of the Duchess of Hohenberg to a seat beside his own.

"We do not yet know and may never know—though already interesting tales have come out of Budapest, and the whole truth may eventually be divulged—whether the assassin who shot the archduke and his wife five years ago today was merely a heathen barbarian, Serb who feared that autonomy within the empire would hinder the unification of the Jugo-slav race, or a member of a group se-cretely inspired by Magyar fear of Francis Ferdinand's intentions. That it seemed an unparalleled piece of good fortune, an incredibly good pretext to the Germans who were preparing an attack upon France and Russia, we do know. Austria-Hungary might have been reformed, after a fashion, by the man who was killed at Sarajevo; but the whole structure of the dual monarchy was so thoroughly corroded that reform would not have been of much use. None of the speculations as to what would happen when Francis Ferdinand came to the throne had gone to such fantastic lengths as to picture the situation today, when Austria-Hungary has been broken into pieces in a war begun on the pretense of revenge for his death."

CHURCHES LEARN LESSON.

That the war has taught churches how to get money for good causes is the significance of the following article which appeared in the El Paso, Texas, Herald:

"When the United States had declared war on Germany, loans and had made a success of its thrift stamps and all the war relief organizations had appealed to the public for millions of dollars and not in vain, remark was made to one of the publicity directors at Washington, a man who had had much to do with the advertising that had stimulated the money campaign, that the country must have been milked about dry by these solicitations, piled one on another.

"No," was his emphatic rejoinder.
"The surface has barely been scratched. The American people are just beginning to learn how to give."

"The remark has been proved true.
The churches were quick to profit by the war-taught lesson of money raising. By direct solicitation they are raising millions now where once they had difficulty in securing thousands.
People have just learned how to give to good causes."

"The northern Methodists have put through their great centenary anniversary program to a point where it is assured of success in its project of raising millions for the betterment of mankind.

The Presbyterians raised about $75,000,000 for their work and the southern Methodists have gone over the top with a fund of almost as much. Starting out to raise $35,000, 000, they doubled the quota.

"Now the southern Baptists are in the field for $75,000,000. They will get it, of course. No denomination exceeds the Baptists when it comes to raising money. There are two million of them and one-fourth of that number live in Texas. The Texas Baptists are the champion givers of the denomination in the south.

"If the work of Christianity can be promulgated more rapidly by the use of larger funds of money, then a wonderful expansion of Christianity is at hand, as the result of the great sums raised this year by American denominations. The evangelization of the world is brought perceptibly nearer.
"It is interesting to note that in their great campaigns of the present day, the churches incline more and more to practical aims; more to lightening misery in our own country than to dubious enterprises in far off lands;
more to evangelization of our own people and less to the extension of the already elaborate missionary systems in the Orient and Africa. Missionary work far afield is of value, but Americans are inclining ever more strongly to the belief that the best field for missionary effort—for us—lies right here on our own continent,
and that every town has its needs."

Milwaukee is entertaining thousands of educators today who are in attendance at the annual convention of the National Educators' association. Milwaukee may have an interesting example of the sublime and the ridiculous tonight. Wet revels are also booked for the evening.

However may be the fact that the country might go wet again after October 1, the dries have crossed the bridge, and if forced to retreat, will make the next crossing with determination. The first step is always the hardest.

Dr. Theobald von Bethmann-Hollweg, former German chancellor, who has asked the allies to try him in place of the ex-kaiser, must have an idea that the kaiser is going to be found guilty.

President Wilson, after bidding good-bye to the kings and emperors of Europe, will have to come down to earth again and face the common people of his own home country.

The Gazette maintains an information bureau at Washington, D. C., under the direction of Frederick J. Has-kin. Questions will be answered on any subject. Those desiring information write a letter to the Janesville
Daily Gazette, Information Bureau,
Washington, D. C., and enclose a stamp. The letter will be answered by our bureau.

Q. Where did the "Princess Pat" regiment get its name? G. U. P.

A. The regiment was named after Princess Patricia, daughter of Duke of Connaught, governor general of Canada.

Q. What is a "Turco"? J. I. L.

A. Turco is the name given to the French colonial troops from the Barbary states.

Q. How are Coral Islands formed?
E. R. F.

A. They are formed from the remains of tiny insects that grow generation after generation for thousands of years and steadily build up from the bottom of the ocean by the shells they leave behind.

Q. How can a wart be removed?
T. Y. L.

A. The public health service says that the best way to remove warts is by an X-ray treatment. If this is not available they can be burned off with nitric acid. Great care should be taken that the nitric acid does not touch the live flesh.

Q. What is the origin of the legendary character used by Lew Wallace, Eugene Sue, and others, of the Man Who Lives Forever? I. K.

A. This character, so widely used in fiction, undoubtedly is of Jewish origin, and is based on the story of "The resurrection of the dead." "You shall not wander on the earth until I return." The wandering Jew who cannot find himself a grave is best known as the character built up on this legend.

Q. What was the first actual participation in the fighting in France by Americans? P. E.

A. The first shot fired by the American soldiers in France was Oct.
28, 1917. The first Americans killed resulted from a raid on American trenches by the Germans, Nov. 6, 1917, with a loss of five Americans killed and 12 captured.

Q. What is the pay of a midship-man at the naval academy at Annapolis?
N. N.

A. At the present time, the pay of a midshipman is $600 per year. A bill is before the senate at this time to increase the pay to $750. This bill has passed the house and it is anticipated that it will pass the senate also before long.

Proving That It Is Not An Old Man's Game

When the children and their friends visited the army camp at Brest on their arrival in France, Captain Brave had asked the officers in the camp to hold all mail and messages there for him and his friends, and had told them that he would get in touch with them occasionally to get word they might have for him.

So today, in the little village, he walked over to the telegraph office and wired to the camp to see if they had any messages or letters for him.
Word came back that there were several letters, including an official envelope with a royal seal on it, waiting for him.

Captain Brave hustled back to the apartment and his friends and told them the news.

"Oh, I bet there's a letter there from mother and father for us, one for Ladycar from mother and maybe one from Captain Bold and Dr. Cheer," said Jane.

"I wonder what the letter with the royal seal on it can be?" said Jack.
"I am going to find out what all of them are very soon," said Captain Brave, "for I'm going to hop into the airplane and fly over to the camp as quickly as I can. If everything goes well I will be back late this afternoon and we can see what everybody has to say. In the meantime Ladycar and Jane and I will take care of the mail."

Jack asked Captain Brave if he couldn't go along, but the captain made him very proud by saying, "You had better stay here and take care of Ladycar and Jane and I will be back in a few minutes later Captain Brave sailed away, leaving everybody curious as to what news was in store for them.

The children and Ladycar spent the day in the country around the little village. Being a little French girl, Jeanne of course knew all of the local customs of the people in the country and the games of the children. She took pleasure in telling her new found friends all of these things and in answering the questions they asked.

With Jack and Jane she joined one or two of the groups of children at play, so that Jack and Jane could learn the games and could teach the little French children some of the

"THE LAST LUSH."
(To be read in 1940.)
I had seen him off before,
As he passed by the door,
And again,
The pavement stones resound
As his boots o'er the ground
With his cane.

They say that in his prime,
Ere the pruning-knife of time
Cut him down,
Not a greater lush was found
By the Crier on his round
Through the town.

But now he walks the streets
And he looks at all he meets
Sad and wan.
For the gin-mills are no more
And he murmurs o'er and o'er—
"They are gone."

And the cups that once he pressed
They have all been laid to rest
On the shelf.
Once when filled up to the brim,
They played ducks and drakes with him.

And my grand old man has said—
"Poor old man, she is dead."
Long ago,
That he had a carmine nose
And his cheek was like a rose
In the snow.

I know it is a sin
For me to sit and grin
At him here,
But the habits that they had
When he was a lad
Were so queer.

We are a resourceful people, as the man said whom he attached some involuntarily to his Ford and used it as a carpet sweeper.

Did you ever hear of anybody who eloped more than once? Neither did we.

THE EXPLOSION OF An Ancient Legend

A LETTER received last week from one who signs himself "Constant User" asks why the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) insists that the gravity test for gasoline is a fallacy.

Not having his address we are answering the inquiry here.

When the Standard Oil Company (Indiana)
began manufacturing gasoline the surest, safest, most practical method known for determining the quality of the product was by testing it with a hydrometer.

In those days all of the crude oil used came from a single locality. It was of the same base always and the products refined from it were uniform.

As the industry grew and oil wells were found in widely separated localities it was discovered that the crude varied so greatly even when taken from wells in the same locality that the hydrometer no longer could be depended upon to indicate the quality of the refined product with satisfactory exactness.

Some other system of measurement had to be used.

The chemical engineers employed by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana), who were asked to solve the problem, suggested that the boiling points of the several fractions, which go to make gasoline, would give the desired result. They would be constant and the usefulness of the product would not vary so long as the range of boiling point fractions remained unchanged.

The practical usefulness of the suggestion was instantly recognized, and the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) immediately adopted it as the basis of their manufacturing practice.

By making its product conform to the boiling point standard, it was possible to guarantee uniform results at all times, even though the hydrometer might show variation in gravity.

We know uniformity is of the most vital importance to the ultimate consumer. That is why we insist that gravity is of no value in determining the value of gasoline as a fuel, because it can not indicate the gaps.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is steadfast in its endeavor to render the greatest service possible to the motoring public and it is constantly trying to so improve the fuel and oils it sells as to give to its patrons a greater value for the money they spend with it.

"DADDY LONG LEGS"

The Love Story of an Orphan
Directed by MARSHALL NEILAN
Photographed by CHARLES ROSHER

A PERSONAL MESSAGE from Manager Zankas to Apollo Patrons: It is with a great deal of pleasure that, after a long absence from the Apollo screen, I am able to announce a return of America's sweetheart, Little Mary. Before contracting for this picture and making this announcement I first satisfied myself as to the merits of this picture and can positively assert without fear of contradiction that "Daddy Long Legs" is Mary Pickford's greatest picture. Never has there been a sweeter story—never has Mary enacted a sweeter role. You will enjoy this picture just as much if not more, than you did "Mickey"—of that I am sure.

Refuses to Be Dead

Despite Three Reports

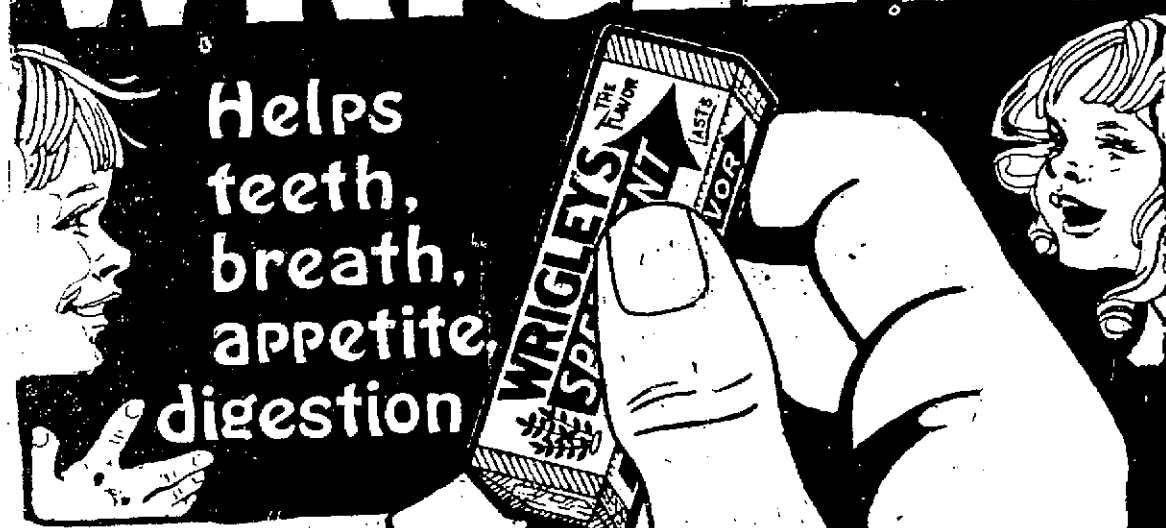

[BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS.]

Salina, Kan.—Despite the fact that the war department has reported him killed in action on three different dates, and despite the fact that his many friends here believe him to be dead, Lloyd E. Ingraham, a former member of the One Hundred and thirty-seventh infantry of the Thirty-fifth division, persists in declaring that he is alive.

He has written friends here from Ellsworth, where he is now living, that he is very much alive and that the reports are false. Furthermore, if he is not believed, he will come over and show himself to his friends to prove the war department just made a mistake.

This is Your Chance BUILD NOW

WE'RE turning people back from the gates of our city because we have no place for them to live. To the man who says, "I want to live in your community, I want to produce, I want to contribute, I want to share with you," we answer, "Move on. We're filled up. We have no housing accommodations." As he passes on, we all lose.

To industries who would locate here, we turn a deaf ear. We have no place for their workers to live.

Do you realize how strained our housing conditions are? Construction has been suspended two years. This is your chance!

BUILDING PRICES are low they have not kept pace with wages, food-stuffs, clothing and the necessities of life. That's why building prices will not drop for years.

You can build now and get a market for your house, or rental that is unprecedented. You'll probably never have a chance to build again when there's such a demand for your house, apartment or store. Materials are available; for the first time in years you can get labor; the railroads will make your deliveries. What an opportunity—just what you've waited for all your life. This is your chance!

"BUILD NOW," says the Government. We must feed orders to our factories, feed work into the hands of our producers if we're to maintain our prosperity and successfully bridge from war to peace.

Building is the quickest way—we're two years behind the country over. Construction calls for production of every kind. Public works help tide over this crucial period—but private construction must begin at once. It is vitally important. Your $10,000 contract will be split into sub-contracts for materials and filter clear through the fabric of industry. It will help re-establish the nation. This is your chance! Buy now.

IF the people in this town who have deferred building plans until "after the war," and those who intend to build will only act now, we'll get a building program under way in this town that will relieve conditions, build permanent wealth and prosper us all. As a city we will do our share in Reconstruction—as individuals, we'll make money.

Other cities, facing the same situation, are meeting it. Why can't we? What we need is concerted action. It's a business opportunity—it's your chance. Seize it—sign your contract today.
